Fish Story Gains Publicity

Coleman's fish story that appeared in the last issue of the Journal, has been receiving wide publicity. The Journal received a clipping of the story as appeared in the New York Journal American and Mr. Bacovski, the fisherman, received a letter from Ripley's Believe It Or Not.

The letter to Mr. Bacovski from Ripley reads as follows:

Dear Mr. Bacovski:
We would like to confirm the following information which has come to our attention:

"Steve Bacovski, of East Coleman, caught a fish today, August 5, in Elk Valley B.C., a sixteen inch bull trout which has a wad of bills inside it. After cutting open the trout, wrapped in a rubber band were three $1 bills and a $2 bill."

Please verify this information on the enclosed blank for a possible item in the Believe It Or Not feature.

Thank you for your cooperation and interest.

Sincerely yours,
BELIEVE IT OR NOT
H. K. Kish.

A clipping concerning the story that appeared in the New York Journal American on August 6th was sent by a former resident. Her letter follows:

School Will Open Tuesday Sept. 1st

Coleman schools will open for the new term on September 1 according to word received last weekend. All teachers have been acquired with the exception of a grade seven teacher to teach English and Community Economics. All last year's teachers with the exception of Miss Alexander and Mrs. Mascherin will return. Two new teachers, Mrs. Elizabeth Shevels and Mrs. G. France have been hired.

There has been a slight delay in the two room addition to the West Coleman school, contractor Cell being held up due to flooding this spring and arrival of supplies. However it is felt that the rooms will be ready shortly after the appointed date of Sept. 1. New furniture, consisting of 70 desks and two teachers' desks and chairs have been ordered. In excess of 80 beginners will trek to the Coleman schools this year.

The teaching staff at the two schools this year will consist of 23 teachers, 17 at Central school and six at Cameron, or West Coleman school.

Principal this year is Horace Allen, who has held the position for the past number of years.

Teachers at Coleman Central school will be:
Grade 1, Miss Ruth Sudworth and Mrs. Francis Bond; Grade 2, Mrs. Annie McLean; Grade 4, Mrs. John McDonald; Grade 5, Miss Laura Johnson; Grade 6, Mrs. H. Muspratt; Grade 7a, E. Teachers at Cameron school will be:
Grade 1, Miss Margaret Dunlop; Grade 2, Mrs. Elizabeth Shevels; Grade 3, Mrs. G. France; Grade 4, Mrs. Beatrice Beck; Grade 5, Mrs. L. Odel and Grade 6, Mrs. Geraldine Montabetti.

Coleman school board at a meeting held recently decided that a cash reward would be offered to anyone giving information leading to the apprehension of those who are damaging the fences around the Coleman school.

The board felt that, in addition to the expense caused by having to repair the fences, the broken poles were dangerous because anyone who tripped or fell over them in the dark and was injured could hold the board responsible.

The reward was offered in the hope that the guilty party or parties could be caught, and that the wilful destruction of the property halted.

L. Jones Laid To Rest

Lewis Jones, pioneer and well respected resident of Coleman passed away at a Calgary Nursing Home on August 21st following a short illness. His passing leaves a vacant spot in Coleman music circles, deceased having done considerable work along these lines during his residence here.

Born at Barnmouth, North Wales, 66 years ago, he came to Coleman in 1921 and had been employed at the International mine. His interest in community affairs resulted in a four year term on the town council. A member of the United Church, he was also a member of the choir, as well as a member of the Welsh Male Voice choir both here and in Wales.

Surviving to mourn his loss are his wife, two sons, Owen of Edmonton, and Jack of Calgary; one sister in Wales and two in Australia.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday, August 23, from St. Paul's United Church, Coleman, officiated by Miss K. Hurlburt of the United Church and L'et. King of the Salvation Army. Burial was made in the Coleman Union Cemetery.

Council Disusses Park And Cemetery Needs

Some of the liveliest discussion and diversified topics in months came up at the council meeting Tuesday night when the town's governing body sat in regular session. All members took part in the meet with the exception of Mayor Aboussafy, Walter Dibblee acting as mayor in his absence.

J. Nelson, proprietor of the Kananaskis Service Stn. waited on the council asking for a letter of approval that he may send with his license application. This request was granted.

Following the adoption of the minutes a letter from Mayor Aboussafy was read asking that the council form a police committee of three, stating that the present police committee of the council as a whole was too unwieldy in urgent matters. This request was approved and a committee composed of councillors Wood, Dibblee and Ramsay.

A committee report regarding taxi stands touched of a great deal of conversation in matters such as space being reserved for bus parking with result it was not used or for only a short time yet tying up space that could be used by motorists to advantage. It was felt that these spots reserved for bus parking should be reserved only for certain times and that the operator be asked to place a sign designating those hours. It was agreed that cars should be allowed to utilize this space at other times.

Similarly it was felt that such should be the case in front of the theatre, this area now being tied up all day while shows were only held during the evening. Taxis too came under discussion with the decision that their stands be removed from the streets and placed on the avenues. The stand at the Coleman hotel in future will be located feet north of the stop sign and the area back of this reserved for Ferstays bus. This move makes it possible for the motorist to see the stop sign and tends to eliminate the blind corner that was caused by bus parking closer to the sign.

Greyhound came into the discussion with a councillor bringing up the matter that a certain area had been set aside for Greyhound and arrangements made with the officials, yet these buses today are pulling in at the Motordrome and driving across the sidewalks.

Moving of taxi parking problems and congestion brought up the matter of signs and crosswalks. It was felt that signs in and around Coleman were in bad shape, some looking like "drunken sailors". It was suggested that all signs be fixed up.

Crosswalks entered discussion with a statement that many cars were pulling into the crosswalks, something the council did not want. Reports had been heard that the police were checking pedestrians on jaywalking and the cross walks should be marked with paint. It was revealed that nothing could be done at this time about jaywalking as Coleman lacks a bylaw and clearly marked crosswalks.

Leaving traffic problems council voted to pay the expenses of the Fire Department team to the Calgary hose laying competitions before they began a long session regarding parks and cemeteries.

Councillor Bond reported that the committee had made a study of the cemetery problem and recommended that if a new cemetery be laid out land was available to the east of town between the railway and the old road. Regarding the old cemetery he outlined the areas that might be utilized and the problem that they posed. Considerable discussion was heard regarding rock, drainage and maintenance, along with the problem of families buying three or four lots then moving away without utilizing the space. It was finally decided that a further study and tests be made on areas before any decision was made.

Regarding parks, Councillor Bond recommended that the first step that should be taken was the diverting of the river, its winding cutting off a lot of valuable park land. He felt that the winding bed might provide a scenic value if the river had water in it all year. This suggestion brought out many well thought points and the fact that the council agreed to spend $250 on the park each year when the lease was signed. Councillor Wood felt that the ideal park area was on top of the hill and back of the sports field. This area too he claimed was being cluttered up, a point that brought out a request that the town endeavour to locate some place in which they could store their equipment rather than having it spread all over town. It was pointed out that the present system turned the land around the overpass into an eyesore seen by everyone from the highway.

Discussion came back to the diverting of the creek and the placing of earth and levelling off, with a counter statement that in the past considerable money had been spent to build handstands, swings, stoves and fireplaces which were soon destroyed. It was in the opinion of one, useless to spend the money unless it was supervised. The land around the Anglican church was cited as a model of beautification when a few popples had been grown to give a pleasing view. This could be followed through with the placing of a little soil and a few seeds to transform the stone wall into a beauty spot.

Leaving parks with a decision to ascertain the cost of diverting the river council ran into their third lengthy discussion of the night, the matter of utilizing equipment for town work. Various pieces of equipment were cited as of value to the town and the faults and favors of each. Costs of renting machinery as weighed against purchase of same, the needs of such equipment and the possibility of having to find work for them to purchase justified, was carefully discussed.

The regular Coleman town council took place two weeks ago with seven councillors and Mayor F. Aboussafy in attendance.

A motion was made by the Council that an application be made to the Minister of Public Health and Welfare to form a health unit in the south comprising the towns of Fort Macleod, Pincher Creek, Hillcrest, Bellevue, Blairmore and Coleman.

The auditor's semi-annual report was read and it showed the town to be in a sound financial position.

The police report was read and approved. It was felt by the council that a good job was being done by the new chief and that the speeding and traffic problems in the town had been greatly reduced.

It was decided to sign an agreement with the Provincial government to look after the fire fighting in the East Coleman and West End Improvement districts.

Prior to the meeting the revision board for property assessments was held. Four appeals were held, three were confirmed and an adjustment was made on a fourth. The revision committee is comprised of Mayor F. Aboussafy, Councillors E. Wood, A. Toppo, J. Wavrean, and J. Ramsey.

Keith Wilson Sees District By Means Of Trail Rides

Keith Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wilson, knows the back trails and scenic spots around Coleman possibly better than any other person with the exception of those pioneers who used to travel to their favorite fishing haunts by horseback. Keith, a horse lover, has travelled extensively astride Bunny this summer, seeing the beauty spots that miss the highway traveller. Included in his travels has been a trip to Tornado Mountain and Calgary via the Kananaskis road.

In early July Keith and Emil Urasek travelled for two days to cover the 40 miles to Tornado mountain. Passing behind the Crow they followed a road for the first 15 miles then continued by trail the remainder of the way. When night fell they camped, cooking on the open fire and sleeping in sleeping bags. Keith, on being interviewed, stated that the Tornado area has the nicest scenery that he has seen.

On July 31, Keith staged a solo trip to Calgary and chose the scenic Kananaskis as his route. Each day he travelled for 25 miles on Bunny, who by the way, is part Shetland. Each morning for six days he started between 5 and 8 in the morning riding until his 25 miles were up. During his trip he met many farmers and fishermen, all of whom proved very friendly especially after learning of his trip.

Keith owns two horses and has been interested in riding since he was two years of age. He has owned horses since he was 10.

EQUIPMENT ARRIVES FOR BOOSTER STATION

Equipment to assure better radio reception in Coleman as far as C.B.C. programs are concerned has arrived. Early last week the equipment for the CBC Booster had arrived at the C.P.R. station and work was expected to begin shortly on the installation.

Information available was that the unit would be located in the local depot and serve to pick up CBC broadcasts, amplify them and rebroadcast them locally. It was not known who would install the equipment or when the work would begin.

The announcement that Mart Kenney and his Band would be playing at the Turtle Mountain Playgrounds on September 7 enroute to Vancouver, was met with approval by all dancing enthusiasts throughout the Pass. However the announcement was received in Coleman with greater approval due to the fact that the visit of the band means a visit by one of Coleman's native sons. . . . Ronald Colagrossi.

Born and raised here in Coleman, Ronald is well remembered, especially in Coleman music circles. His return to his home town will result in renewing acquaintances with old friends and spending some time with his father V. Colagrossi.

Ronald started his musical career with the Coleman Town Band, later joining the Kitsalino Boys Band of Vancouver, touring Europe with them in 1950. During 1951 he moved to Toronto to resume his study of music, joining the Mart Kenney Band last year. Twenty two years of age, Ronald was born and educated in Coleman.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Dinner For Three

By MARY L. AKSIM

IT WAS in one of those restaurants where the seating arrangements are unappealingly inadequate to the rush of the dinner hour, and as usual the hostess led me to a table where two strangers were already seated.

A fair, chic woman of about 30 was studying the menu and frowning a little, perhaps at the choices offered, and an alert, brash fellow in tweeds was watching her over the top of his menu card. I tried to take as little room as possible at the round table, ordered roast beef, rare, and mashed potatoes, and leaned down to take some papers from my brief case. Lately we had been very busy in our department of the government and as head clerk I was anxious to catch up with the details of my work. But I couldn't help noticing that the man at the table kept smiling at the woman, and trying to catch her glance with his bold eyes.

Finally the man cleared his throat noisily. The woman looked up almost involuntarily.

"Pardon me," he said, without sincerity, "I must have caught cold." And then as she turned back to her dinner, "Aren't you Miss Gladys Raymond?" he smiled. "I would know you anywhere from your pictures in the newspapers!"

I started. Gladys Raymond at my table, the novelist who was famous as the author of two amazingly successful novels! I might have recognized her myself, I thought, except for my inability to remember faces. Gladys Raymond! Well! I would have to tell Adeline and the children about this.

The woman was smiling now, rather uncertainly, I thought. No doubt she had hoped to slip by unrecognized.

ed. But my neighbor went on gallily, "Let me introduce myself. I'm Adam Saunders. You may have heard of me."

I started again. Certainly Miss Raymond would have heard of Adam Saunders, the well-known parliamentary figure and chief of my own department. I saw Adam Saunders almost every day and I felt the blood rushing to my head when I looked at this assured villain who had just claimed to be a man he was not! I opened my mouth to protest, to expose this impostor, to warn Miss Raymond, and then I shut it again. The last time I had differed with a stranger I had come to lying on pavement which was very hard and very cold. I would watch my chance, I decided, and warn the girl some less dangerous way. I turned back to my report.

The other two carried on a running conversation which shifted from the characters in Miss Raymond's novels to the policies in Adam Saunders' department. The man's remarks were tinged with those shades of innuendo and prognostication which spice so many exchanges in the capital city. I could see that the woman was interested. Her dinner was growing cold as she listened to accounts of parties where ambassadors, cabinet ministers and captains of finance called each other and the speaker by Christian names, where the advice of the pseudo Adam Saunders was sought on high policy matters. I grew uneasy when the talk shifted to addresses and phone numbers. I tried shaking my head sagely at the woman and forming the word "No!" with my lips. She stared at me coldly and turned back to the man.

How could I warn her, I thought desperately? This man was a common rogue! Probably his game was to rob the novelist, to kidnap her and hold her for ransom. I could see the press headlines: FAMOUS NOVELIST ABDUCTED BY IMPOSTER, HELD FOR RANSOM.

My dinner was finished and I chewed the end of my cigarette in frustration. I was considering warning the police as I left the restaurant when the man suddenly excused himself to make a phone call. I waited until he had swung past several tables before I burst out, "Don't have anything to do with that man! He's a villain! He is not Adam Saunders and has nothing to do with his department. Hurry, Miss Raymond, let us leave now while he is at the phone!"

The novelist lifted her eyebrows and picked up her purse and gloves. I rushed to get my overcoat and hat and joined her at the cashier's counter. I think I had some wild notion of asking her out to see Adeline and the children before this famous woman and I took separate paths.

I swung the swinging door gracefully into position and followed her through it. On the street she paused for a moment.

"And I'm not Gladys Raymond," she said.

Elkhorn District Used Every Year By U.S. Dog Trainers

ELKHORN, Man.—For many years Elkhorn district has been chosen as a centre for dog training activities by dog trainers from southern United States.

Among those who come each year are Bill Cosner, J. Gooden, John and Howard Parker, Walter Sandifer, Oneal Lemay and C. E. Duffield. These professional trainers come from Kansas, Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, Texas and other states.

The dogs are transported in trucks with several layers of crates built in to convey the dogs. Each trainer has from 10 to 50 dogs with perhaps three to four helpers.

The large area of land north of the town, free of cultivation with an abundance of prairie chicken, makes it an ideal place for training pointers and setters. Most of the dogs are trained for routine hunting only, but some of the best receive special training to enable them to compete in the field trials in September that marks the climax of the seasons training. Trainers bring their dogs for miles to compete at the trials where a prize may pay them well over $1,000. In 1951, the champion prize winner was paid $1,280 alone at the North American Field Trials held at Elkhorn.

Black Squirrels Brought From Ontario Now Reside At Macklin

A black squirrel, a real rarity in the life of animal life on the prairies is now in the town of Macklin, Sask., and is attracting considerable attention wherever seen.

When Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Reed returned from a vacation in Ontario in May they brought back a half dozen of these interesting animals. A couple died but the remaining live ones disappeared from Mr. Reed's premises and the first knowledge of the whereabouts of any of them was given when one was seen in Mrs. Schiller's yard.

The one in town is fairly tame but not so much so as when on the farm as all could be fed from the hand.—The Macklin Times.

Butterfat Test Of Milk

Factors which influence the butterfat test of milk:

Rapid milking usually results in more complete milking, and an average butterfat test. Milking should be completed in three to five minutes.

A long interval followed by a short interval between milkings usually results in a higher butterfat test. The longer interval produces more milk with a lower test.

Whether a cow is milked twice a day, three times a day, or four times a day has no great effect on the butterfat test.

These three facts form a small portion of a complete list of 27 factors dealing with the butterfat test of milk which are listed on circular 179, obtainable now at the office of the agricultural representative.

IN ALBERTA

Huge Turtle Found Near Bonnie Glen

We don't know if the unusually damp season or all the oilfield activity is responsible but a young visitor to this area has a real souvenir of his visit here. Eddie Conquerwood, of Calgary, visiting recently in the Bonnie Glen district, discovered a large turtle; it was eight inches long and 5½ inches wide and while we can't pose as an expert on turtles we believe this is something of a record. At least, it's bigger than we want to find crawling down our neck one of these days.—The Devonian, Leduc.

Funny and Otherwise

"Have you any cream for restoring the complexion?" asked the faded spinster.

"Restoring, miss? You mean preserving!" said the assistant heartily.

He sold her two dollars' worth.

"So your car is off of action for the weekend?"

"Yes; isn't it funny that a woman who can spot a blonde hair on your coat at 10 paces can't see a pair of garage doors?"

A crowd had gathered round a man selling tins of corn cure. After along speech he asked if anyone had bought a tin before.

A voice from the back of the crowd shouted: "Yes, I had a tin last week."

"Thank you, sir," said the salesman. "And did it do all I say?"

"Yes, long and more. My wife used it to polish the furniture, and it took all the knobs off the chest o' drawers!"

"Father was delighted when I told him you were a poet."

"I'm glad to hear that."

"Yes, the last of my boys he tried to kick out of the house was a boxing champion."

The lodger inspected his pantry and rang for his landlady. "Look here," he said, holding up a jar, "I'll bet you've been at my marmalade again."

"Pardon me," replied the landlady, with dignity, "you insult me—I never bet!"

"I'm going to kiss you before I go," said the young man who had long outstayed his welcome.

"Do it now while I'm still young," replied the girl, wearily.

"And what did Daddy say when you told him you'd won a prize for diction?"

"He said, 'Well, well, you're getting more like your mother every day.'"

Two workmen sat down to eat their lunch, and one began unwrapping a narrow parcel about half a yard long.

"What's that?" asked his friend.

"Well, my wife's away, so I made a pie for myself."

"Of course it's long—it's a rhubarb pie."

"George is marrying one of those all-round girls. She swims, drives a car, golfs, and is an air pilot."

"Lucky for George he can cook, isn't it?"

Polio Imposes Ban

Spread of polio in Alberta has forced the Provincial Board of Health to exclude all children 16 years old and under from theatres and swimming pools throughout the Province. The order became effective at 8 a.m.

To control the spread of polio parents were advised to keep their children from getting over-tired. Boys and girls should keep out of crowds, avoid swimming and practice careful personal hygiene.

Parents can help check the disease by maintaining high standards of dish washing, washing all fruits and vegetables, keeping garbage covered, controlling flies in outdoor toilets, and postponing operations for the removal of tonsils, adenoids or teeth.

The Board of Health said that early care will often prevent a polio patient from being crippled. Mild cases of polio were best looked after in the home since movement might harm the patient.

Weddings and Showers

COLEMAN-BELLEVUE COUPLE MARRIED

A mid-morning wedding at St. Cyril's Catholic church on Saturday, July 25, united in marriage Alice Marie Lybucki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lybucki of Bellevue and Russell Charles Montalbetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Montalbetti of Coleman.

Rev. Father B. A. Holland performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with bouquets of peonies and carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she wore a gown of white nylon net in semi-formal length with overskirt of nylon embroidered with floral design. The fitted bodice was topped by a bolero featuring a narrow shawl collar and short sleeves. Her veil of illusion net mistled to finger-tip length from a coronet headdress. Red roses and Calla lilies in crested arrangement made up her bridal bouquet and she wore as her only ornament, groom's gift of a gold cross and chain.

Mrs. Andy Salus of Coleman attended her sister as matron of honor. Miss Joanne Montalbetti of Coleman, sister of the groom and Miss Lydia Gurlel of Bellevue were bridesmaids. Each bride attendant wore a gown of white nylon net in semi-formal length topped with bolero in matching tone in shades of blue, pale green and yellow. Their ensemble was complemented with coronet headdress and wrist-length gloves. Each carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Peter Allen and Jimmy Ewing, both of Coleman, attended the groom. Usher for the occasion was Ronald Molina of Trail, B.C. Miss Annie Skina of Bellevue was organist during the ceremony.

Some 40 guests attended the reception held in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, where a three-tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table. A toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Peter Allen. Mothers of the wedding principals, assisted in receiving their guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lybucki chose an afternoon dress of white printed silk, and Mrs. Montalbetti wore a two-piece navy dress with white trim. Each wore a corsage of pink roses.

Following a wedding trip to points in the United States, the couple will reside in Coleman.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. A. Molina, Roscoe B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Cachelion, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Dalouse, Mr. and Mrs. G. Zanier and Mrs. C. Molina, all of Trail, B.C.; (Mrs. C. Molina is the grandmother of the groom), Mr. and Mrs. A. Montalbetti, of Banff; C. Montalbetti and G. Molina, of Bluffton, Alta.; and Mrs. F. Macchi, grandmother of the groom.

A shower honoring Miss Leona Kleivinski was held in the Italian Hall Aug. 12 when a large number of friends paid tribute to the honored guest and played whist and bingo. Winners at whist were Doreen Warrean, Mrs. Harry Sila and Mrs. H. Maslin. The door prize was won by Miss Albina Soroff. In addition to a number of lovely gifts, Leona was the recipient of a Mix master from the hostesses and a chrome suite, 2 rugs, and canister set from donations. Hostesses were Mesdames Church, M. Gale, G. Zinook, M. Urkewich, Bartoletti, Gurny, P. Karpuchuk, Cornez, Supwot, Melan, John Warrean, G. Omeulak, C. Chupka, I. Sikora, Stelmachovich, I. Geologists Visit Pass Accommodation was at a premium last Friday when a large party of visiting geologists visited the area on a field trip. While in the Coleman area the visitors stopped at Crowsnest Lakes and the Gap Range Station. A dinner was held at Turtle Mountain Playgrounds Friday night, a feature of which being the Chicken Dancers from the Piegan Reserve.

Increased interest in the geological formation that occurs through the Crows Nest Pass was evidenced last week with the arrival of a large contingent of geologists in the area. The Alberta Association of Petroleum Geologists, about 300 strong, visited the area in their annual field trip.

Friday morning the field trip members left Calgary in about 50 cars, travelling to Turner Valley and south along the foothills through the Porcupine hills north of Lundbreck to the Walound bridge, where lunch was served.

Friday afternoon the tour continued into the Crows Nest Pass, and travelled to inspect a geological formation.

In the evening the tour assembled at Turtle Mountain Playgrounds in Frank for a banquet. Among papers to be delivered was one by Sydney Ward of Blairmore, chief geologist for West Canadian Collieries Ltd. Mr. Ward explained the geological formation in the Crows Nest Pass was one of the best in Western Canada. His paper dealt with structural conditions in this area. Also dealt with was the relationship of geology in this area to finding oil further east, such as around Lundbreck and Cowley.

Saturday morning, the tour left the Crows Nest Pass, travelled on to the north of Coleman and stopped for a period at the Gap and Longview before returning to Calgary.

Members of the Geological Society of Canada, and federal government geologists from Ottawa were on the field trip, delivering technical papers.

Publicity Association Formed For Pass

Towns throughout the entire Crowsnest Pass have combined to form a publicity committee in an effort to bring a fair share of the tourist trade to this section of Alberta. The Journal was not informed as to this meeting and cannot give a comprehensive report as to the discussion and what took place. However the following account of the meeting has been handed in and will serve to give the readers the story of organization.

Meeting called at 8:15 p.m. L. D. Huntley, president of Blairmore Board of Trade in the chair.

Present were: Blairmore 10, Coleman 5, Macleod 2, Pincher 2, Fernie 11, Lundbreck 1. The A.M.A. Lethbridge, was represented by their Lethbridge manager, Mr. A. Gelsen. Also present was Mr. W. H. (Bill) Thomson, field representative, Dept. of Economic Affairs, stationed presently at Macleod.

After a few introductory remarks by Mr. Huntley the meeting was turned over to Mr. Geo. Lees, president of the Fernie Chamber of Commerce who was primarily responsible for the suggestion that such a meeting be held for the purpose of forming some association of citizens in the area (Cranbrook to Fort Macleod), who were interested in advertising our district and in any possible way increasing the flow of tourists through the district.

Mr. Lees' remarks showed that he had a complete grasp of the situation and figures quoted by him were certainly interesting and a surprise to some of those present.

Moved by J. W. (Jack) Colwell, seconded by Adam Wilson, Coleman B. of T. That we organize for the above district "The Crows Nest Pass Tourist & Good Roads Association", carried.

Election of Officers. Moved by Colwell and seconded by F. J. Butala, Fernie C. of C. That this meeting elect the following officers: president, vice-president, secretary, two directors. Carried.

R. H. (Dick) Morgan nominated J. W. Colwell president. Seconded by Colwell seconded by Morgan that nominations close. Kerr elected.

J. W. Colwell nominated Geo. Lees, vice-president. Moved by R. Morrison, seconded by B. Fowle that nominations close. Lees elected.

The election of a secretary was left to the executive of the association.

Directors: Wilson nominated B. Pelletier, Macleod C. of C. Aboussay nominated J. Colwell, Coleman B. of T. On a show of hands Messrs Pelletier and Colwell were elected.

Raising of the necessary funds. A lengthy discussion took place on this and the president suggested that this association join the North-West Tourist Association as a unit for a fee to be determined and that a budget be made out and the whole district be covered in an effort to raise funds to cover the budget cost. Moved by Morgan, seconded by C. T. Lynch, Fernie, that the matter of fees be left to the executive. Carried.

A suggestion was made by J. Colwell that, in the raising of funds or setting of fees, a distinction be made between businesses on the highway and those off the highway.

The meeting was then addressed by Bill Thomson of the Dept. of Economic Affairs who had many valuable suggestions to make. He pledged the co-operation and assistance of his bureau. Meeting adjourned at 11 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kerr of Turtle Mountain Playground entertained the meeting, provided all accommodation free of charge and finally served coffee to all present.

We deeply appreciate this and thank them for their kindness. —Publicity committee.

Brothers Meet After 51 Years Separation

Brothers that had not seen each other for the past 51 years were reunited in Coleman last week, with the arrival of John Majeske of Berwyn, Illinois. Mr. Majeske met here his brother Ignatius Machiejewski, a miner at the McGillivray mine.

The brothers saw each other last in Austria in 1902, but have known the location of each other for some time. Mr. Majeske, a hammersmith in Illinois left his home a week or so ago and made the trip to Coleman to see his brother, as he puts it, before he dies.

Films of Football Game Will Be Shown Here

Local Blood Donor Clinic September 9th

Above is the scene of the head on collision on the Banff highway December 26, 1952.

Two people were killed, and seven seriously injured. Twenty bottles of blood were supplied immediately by the Red Cross Free Blood Transfusion Service for the survivors. Later still more blood was required by these victims.

During 1952 free blood was available for every emergency case in Southern Alberta.

22,760 unselfish donors had made this possible. However, it cannot be taken for granted that supplies will always be on hand. Full attendance at every scheduled clinic is the only insurance.

Clinic To Be Held At The Hospital

The Red Cross Blood Transfusions Service must of necessity operate with the greatest efficiency and economy. Consequently, it must hold clinics only at points where at least 100 blood donors are available. For that reason the organization requests communities to co-operate to the utmost and to support the clinic at the most convenient centre.

A. W. Haley, organizer of blood donors clinic in southern Alberta, points out that the more donors available at a central point the less the cost. With modern transportation there is not a great deal of inconvenience for communities to select such a point. The Red Cross staff for this work is limited and the appropriation available necessitates the greatest economy.

The Alberta Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service is doing marvelous work in the cause of humanity. It makes instantly available blood types required for any emergency. Hundreds of victims of accidents can testify to the value of this work.

Mr. Haley, who has organized blood clinics all over southern Alberta, testifies to the good-heartedness of the public in freely contributing of their blood in this worthy cause. He would like to see the friendliest co-operation of communities in supporting clinics held at central points.

The people of Blairmore and Coleman districts have been asked by the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service to supply 300 donors at a clinic in the C.N.P. Municipal Hospital, September 9 1953.

In 1952 every emergency where blood was needed was attended to.

Increasing strain is continuously put upon the limited resources of the Blood Transfusions Service to procure still more supplies.

February of this year proved to be the heaviest the Service in Southern Alberta has been called on to meet. It cannot be taken for granted that blood will always be on hand for all emergencies. It is only made available by public spirited citizens who have taken the time and effort to attend scheduled clinics.

We are indeed fortunate, who are able to give for those in need

Hansell Returned By Large Majority

The quietest election that can be recalled saw voters of the Macleod Constituency endorse the efforts of E. G. Hansell as representative for them during the past 18 years. Locally many felt his return to be a foregone conclusion, yet there were many that nursed the idea of electing a member of the government. However when ballot casting began on August 10, the Social Credit candidate started piling up votes in a sure victory.

Space will not permit the voting results of the 209 polls, but we list the results at local polls for your information.

All four of Mr. Hansell's opponents — Progressive Conservative Warren Cooper of Nanton, C.C.F. Leslie Howard of Claresholm, Liberal candidate Joseph J. McIntyre of Calgary and Labor-Progressive Party Tony Patera — apparently lost their deposits. With 200 of the 209 polls reported in, Mr. Hansell had 8,408 votes and only Mr. McIntyre, who polled 4,037, appeared to have any chance at all of obtaining the minimum 50 per cent of the winning candidate's votes to avoid forfeiture of the $200 deposit required of each candidate.

Mr. Cooper had 3,348 votes, Mr. Howard 650 and Mr. Patera 591. In 1949 general election, Mr. Hansell won 7,290 votes, as compared to the 3,943 polled by Alfred Lewis, the Liberal candidate, who was runner-up. Progressive Conservative candidate Stanley Wyatt received 3,293 votes; and J. P. Griffin, CCF nominee, received 1,650 votes. All his opponents but Mr. Lewis lost their $200 deposits.

Warren Cooper, defeated Conservative candidate in the Macleod riding: "My congratulations to Mr. Hansell. I wish him full success during his next session in parliament."

J. J. McIntyre, the defeated Liberal candidate in the Macleod riding, congratulated Mr. Hansell. "I am happy the Liberals were returned to power nationally," he said. "I am sorry this riding is again in the opposition, which I believe is a serious disadvantage."

Leslie Howard, the CCF candidate, congratulated Mr. Hansell and thanked his workers and supporters for "a job well done. I assure my supporters I will really be in there fighting in the next election," he said.

Anthony Patera, badly-defeated Labor-Progressive (Communist) Party candidate, thanked his supporters and said he "would continue to work for a strong and peaceful Canada."

Indian History Recalled As Consideration Is Given To Change Name Of Johnstone Lake

Consideration is again being given to adopt the former name of Old Wives Lake for Johnstone Lake in Southern Saskatchewan. This was announced by A. I. Bereskin, controller of the surveys branch for the Department of Natural Resources. Mr. Bereskin is also Saskatchewan representative of the Canadian Board of Geographical Names.

Officially named Johnstone Lake in 1886 by Archie McDonald, factor of the Fort Qu'Appelle Hudson Bay post, it is located 22 miles southwest of Moose Jaw. It was named so in honor of Sir Frederick Johnstone, a British parliamentarian who visited him in 1866 and hunted for buffalo. He was actually a very early tourist who had no connection with the province.

A Cree Indian legend persists even today, and it no doubt has historical fact, even though there is no written record, since the Indian history was handed down from father to son.

According to the legend, a Cree hunting party set out from Qu'Appelle on a buffalo hunt, and followed a shaggy herd to a point west of the Moose Jaw Creek. Having made their kill, the Cree began their homeward journey, when one evening they were overtaken by a Blackfoot war party. The Blackfoot circled the Cree and made an attack, however, they were driven off and disappeared into the surrounding hills.

After the first attack, the Cree set up camp and began to discuss their plans for the following day, for they knew they would be outnumbered when the Blackfoot returned for another organized attack the following morning.

The Cree were accompanied by a group of women, whose job it was to skin the carcasses of the dead buffalo and prepare the meat. The older women of this group also counselled and told the chief of their plan. Since they were old and unable to bear more children or undertake much more heavy work, they decided to remain at the camp while the younger women and the men could escape into the darkness unnoticed by the Blackfoot scouts.

This plan was accepted by the chief, and as a result the rest of the party reached Qu'Appelle safely. However, in the first daylight hours the Blackfoot discovered they had been tricked and became so enraged that they killed every one of the old women. It was following that historic incident that the large body of water nearby was known locally Old Wives Lake by the natives and early settlers.

It is this legend that Mr. Bereskin would like to see perpetuated by the restoration of the lake's former name. He stated that history, in all countries, has numerous examples of a Mother's sacrifice for her children. This is a fine example of a great sacrifice made by Indian women on behalf of their children, right here in Saskatchewan, he said. He concluded, "It does not coincide with the dignity of the province to honor the casual visit of a sportsman to the territories, and thereby lose sight of a historical incident which took place in this country."

"Fortunately, there are some thoughtful citizens, particularly old-timers in the district, who know of the legend of Old Wives, and who are anxious to restore the former name. Not to do so would indicate that we have become so indifferent that matters of sentiment now have little place in our everyday thinking."

The late Z. M. Hamilton was most active in promoting public interest in the legend, and Mrs. A. W. Cusick of Coderre, Saskatchewan, is one of the individuals enlisting public support for renaming Lake Johnstone. Through her effort, several municipalities surrounding the lake have made known their whole-hearted concurrence.

Record Tourist Season Predicted In Manitoba

Numbers of tourists and vacationists visiting Manitoba so far this year are approximately five per cent higher than last year and indications are that 1953 will be an all-time record-breaking year for tourism in Manitoba.

This optimistic statement was made by officials of the Department of Industry and Commerce who stated that tourists and vacationists are expected to spend $25 million in Manitoba this year.

In the first five months of this year, 7,630 vehicles have entered the province on long term vehicle permits. Over 20,000 short term vehicle permits have been issued in the same period and over 3,000 commercial vehicle crossings have also been made.

A total of 46,000 enquiries have been handled by the Department of Industry and Commerce so far this year and approximately 382,000 pieces of promotional literature have been distributed to potential tourists.

A recent survey conducted by the Department indicates that tourist shopping got off to a slow start this year, but that leading retail stores believe that tourist sales will increase rapidly in the next few weeks. The survey also indicated that American tourists are again buying large quantities of English bone china, linen, woollens, clothing, silverware, and jewelry. Chinaware, as in the past, continues to be the most sought after commodity. Coronation souvenirs sales are good and are creating good interest. On the whole Americans appear to be purchasing at about the same level as previous years.

British-made articles are popular and store officials advise enquiries are continually received for the whereabouts of U.K. imports.

PRESSING A DRESS

When you press a dress, first tackle the pockets, then the sleeves, collar, bodice and skirt, in that order.

It's The Extras That Make A Tourist Return

J. J. Murphy, who operates Teepee Town, a motel and recreation park in Cammore, has the right slant on the tourist industry. He offers the extras that make a visit to his establishment a real pleasure. "What sort of extras?" you say. Well, for one thing, Mr. Murphy has a green garden . . . radishes, lettuce, green onions, and spinach . . . at the disposal of his Teepee guests at any time. Later on there will be fresh raspberries and strawberries for the visitors to enjoy. Mr. Murphy has also planted 100 trees . . . evergreens, poplars and elms . . . welcome shade to the weary traveller.

As soon as the highway is completed, natural gas will be piped into Cammore, and guests will enjoy this convenience, as well.

Manager Murphy, who took over Teepee Town in May, 1952, has spent the past year renovating existing cabins in his motel, and is now building new. Because accommodation for large parties has, up to now, been inadequate, he has built two modern duplex units, and is planning, among other projects for this summer, the construction of a recreation building 40 by 80 feet. Of particular interest is the large teepee-shaped cabin now going up. The two-story building, 25 feet in circumference and 30 feet high, will comfortably accommodate six persons. This building will cost approximately $7,000. An added feature will be a big 14 by 9-foot artist's road map, showing the routes with full road contours, from coast to coast in Canada. It will be enclosed in a glass case.

There is also a ball diamond at Teepee Town where both tourists and townspeople find recreation and enjoyment. A standard national league ball diamond has played host to the local Cammore, Banff and Exshaw teams, and last year the Indian Head Rockets, an all-colored team, played the Great Falls Airforce here, by invitation from Mr. Murphy. Admission is free . . . and bleachers are planned for the diamond.

J. J. Murphy, who has had many years' experience in the travel industry, claims a real heritage in the development of travel in Alberta. He is the nephew of the head of the contracting firm, Madigan, MacKenzie and Mann, commissioned to build the railroad through the Rockies to Vancouver in the '80's.

Helpful Hints

To "dry clean" your non-washable gloves at home try this method: mix ½ cup of fuller's earth and ½ cup powdered alum. Put the gloves on a board, cover with the powder and brush with a stiff brush, then wipe off with a towel and cover gloves with clean cornmeal and brush off. Doekin and chamois will look quite new.

Use a fork for sticking holes into the bottom of a tomato, then hold it over a fire. The skin will crack and it can be peeled readily. The tomato will not be soft as it is when placed in boiling water.

When putting up fruit or vegetables in tin cans, moisten the gummed label with glycerin and it will make it adhere to the tin.

When wearing rubber gloves, if a rubber band is fastened tightly around the glove at the wrist, it will prevent water from getting inside. When not in use, the gloves should be lightly dusted with talcum or starch and turned wrong side out.

No Comment Necessary

WHITTING, Me.—Police made no comment when they removed several signs from U.S. highway one here, which is being repaired. The signs read:

"Cheer up! Good roads ahead in Canada."

"Good driving! You made it."

"This road is not closed—but should be."

"Slow, political corners ahead."

2,4-D Will Damage Tomato Plants

Spray or fumes of 2,4-D will damage tomato plants according to observations of the provincial department of agriculture.

It causes an abnormal growth which gives the plant a twisted, elongated, narrow foliage which is leathery in texture.

Until recently, many gardeners thought this abnormal growth was caused by a spray used to control mosquitoes.

Damage is most apparent when 2,4-D has been used in control of weeds in the immediate area, but symptoms have occurred where the chemical has not been used within miles.

The explanation is that fumes of 2,4-D rising from prairie grain fields, which have been treated for weeds, remain in the upper air until it rains. Rain drops carry the tiny droplets of 2,4-D to attack the plant.

Although no control has been found it has been noted that the amine form of 2,4-D is less damaging to vegetable crops than the ester form.

Other vegetable crops susceptible to 2,4-D injury are beans, cauliflower, radishes, vine crops and carrots. The Department of Agriculture warns gardeners to follow manufacturers' instructions when using weed control methods . . . and to keep the spray away from susceptible crops.

Large Lynx Swims River Near Maidstone

Ordinarily wary of people, a large lynx showed no fear, when it climbed aboard the Maidstone ferry, and caused quite a commotion.

The lynx swam across the Saskatchewan River from the north and dragged itself on to the apron of the ferry, stationed on the south shore. It bounded to the top of and over a car and stood watching the people on the ferry, before taking off into the bushes. It was of unusual size, about twice as big as a collie dog.

Very few lynx have been seen in this vicinity for a number of years—Maidstone Mirror.

YOUR INNER MINE

The human body has its own form of mineral supply, containing iron, copper and other minerals necessary to health. Calcium is required for sound teeth and bones, normal clotting of blood and maintenance of nerve and muscle responses. Phosphorus is necessary for proper utilization of proteins and carbohydrates to ensure the formation and function of all body cells. Iron helps to form hemoglobin and red-blood cells, while copper aids in the formation of red blood and helps to prevent anaemia. Iodine is the main factor in creating thyroxine, which in turn helps to prevent simple goitre.

Where Fish Stories Are True

Mr. John Wilson lived a fisherman's dream when a Saskatchewan Government airplane dropped him at Blue Lake some 280 miles north of Lac La Ronge.

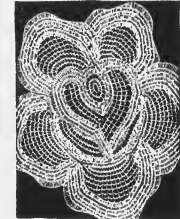

In an interview with Mr. Wilson, he told us of catching lake trout till his arms tired—of rubbing shoulders with four Chicomons who brought out 20 trout over 20 pounds each.

Northern Pike became a nuisance to the point where they took the hooks off and coaxed in the fish on the line and then picked out the one they wanted.

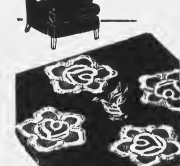

It all sounded like a fish story but this land of the last frontier, hundreds of miles past the end of the road, is where fish stories come true, a picture he showed us proved it. He was visiting the camp of Lafave Pitts and Thimssen. Dr. Lafave is one of the partners, and is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson—Hanley Herald.

Over-Stridden Spoils Hitting Efficiency

One of the common faults that spoils effectiveness of the average batter in baseball is taking too long a stride as the swing is made. If a hitter takes too long a stride the following things happen:

1. The long stride lowers the body too much and this means the eyes are travelling down across the flight of the ball as the swing is being made. This, of course, as any eye expert will tell you, makes it much harder for you to judge the flight of the ball. The closer your eyes keep to the level they were on when the swing started, the better you will be able to hit.

2. The level of your swing changes as your bat comes through at the ball. You see, if your foot is off by say 4 1/2 feet off the ground in the ready-to-hit position from where you start your swing, it will come through at about a 4 foot height because of your long stride. If you take someone take a long stride and see how it shortens his height. This lowering of the swing level as the bat comes through will cause you to hit under the ball.

3. Too long a stride also spoils your balance. To prove this just take an extra long stride and then see how you feel in regard to hitting a ball really hard.

4. The final point is that taking too long a stride puts you in a bad position to start for first base in a hurry. Your legs are too far apart for you to get started quickly. So, take a tip and make sure you don't take too long a stride. Experiment until you find the perfect stride for you, always keeping in mind that most great hitters take about a six inch to one foot stride.

Control Your Kick

When swimming and doing the "butter kick" check any inclination to kick your feet too far out of the water. Only the heels should break the surface. Many swimmers make the mistake of kicking up too far out of the water and as a result they waste energy, lose speed and upset their balance. Perhaps the worst effect of this habit is that when one leg comes too far out of the water the other leg is driven too deep into the water. Check up on this point now and get more results from your efforts.

LET ME KINDLE A FIRE

Let me kindle a fire once more in my old kitchen range; So that I may feel the warmth spread around the room And hear the dry wood crackle and snap.

Let me draw fresh water from the barnyard pump To fill up the granite kettle for our tea; We'll wait until the steam whistles from the spout; Then when the room is cozy warm and fragrant

With the brewing tea and thin wedges of thin toast, Let me share these blessings with a kindly neighbor, And reminisce as all wives and mothers do.

Troubled By Mother-in-Laws?

Mother-in-law trouble seems to have reached a new high in Sweden. A Swedish legislator has originated a bill which provides for a man not being charged with murder if he kills his mother-in-law. This legislator says if it can be proven that a man has been harassed day after day by his mother-in-law and, by that, is inspired to kill her, the circumstances are extenuating. That instead of the charge being murder in the first degree, it should be reduced to manslaughter.

Superior Sex

Am in receipt of an unusual number of communications from feminine subscribers in which they claim the female is beyond all question "the superior sex". Perhaps the coronation of Queen Elizabeth has something to do with this. The sight of Elizabeth's husband kneeling humbly before her has no doubt added impetus to the belief of their superiority on part of women. Incidentally, a feminine subscriber of Boston, in boasting of her sex's superiority, said in part: "Even the female flea is superior to the male. The female flea is larger than the male, weighs twice as much, and lives longer."

Sport of "Queens"

It was Queen Elizabeth the First of England who originated the idea of racing to improve the breed of horses. It was Queen Anne of England who founded the Newmarket and Ascot race courses and gave the sport its real start in England. So, perhaps, instead of being called "the sport of kings", thoroughbred racing should be styled "the sport of queens."

"Foreigner" Makes Good

All of the bands in the world, which handles Latin-American music they say in South America, the best band is that of Senor Roberto Ingles. His rhumba and samba records outsell all others in Latin America and that includes the records of the native bands. But, as the saying goes, here's the payoff. Senor Ingles is a Scotsman, a native of Elgin, Scotland. His real name is Robert Inglis. Not only that but practically all the members of his Latin-American band are Scots.

For Tall Women

Some of the hosiery manufacturers are apparently becoming very sympathetic as to the stocking difficulties of tall women. Now there is being manufactured a nylon stocking intended especially for long-legged women who have small feet. Most nylons are sold by foot size. So the lengthy ladies with small feet often find themselves irritated and made uncomfortable by short stockings. This new type of nylon hosiery stretches. It will stretch from 21 to 32 inches in length, or even more.

Fair to Females

Note it said that all over the world the Swiss franc is considered very desirable by those engaged in the exchange of foreign currencies. Some people think Switzerland is the best governed country in the world. In any event, the Swiss have avoided war for many centuries. Women do not have the vote in Switzerland.

Driver's License Not Available For Persons Under 16 Years Old

REGINA.—Persons under 16 who have hopes of getting a driver's licence because of unusual family circumstances are to be disappointed. J. A. Christie, chairman of the Saskatchewan Highway Traffic Board, says the Traffic Board has no authority to grant either a driver's or learner's licence to any person under 16 years of age.

If a person under 16 is found operating a motor vehicle, it is the practice of the police to charge the owner of the vehicle under the Vehicle Act. In some cases the owner of the vehicle is charged under the Criminal Code with contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Find Copper Arrow Head Near Whitewood

An unusual find was made by Swan Swanson recently. While preparing his garden he dug up a copper arrowhead. This is V shaped, about one quarter of an inch thick just where it was fastened to the shaft and tapered off to a sharp point. The shaft was broken off just at the head of the V shaped head. These it is supposed to have been made use of by the Indians who first settled here on the reserve north-west of town. It is believed that they used this kind of weapon to kill buffalo roaming the wide open stretches of prairie land at that time. There are many evidences that Indians had several camping sites in this area, for many hand-made relics of various kinds have been found from time to time.—The Whitewood, (Sask.), Herald.

Sask. Timber Production Shows Decline

PRINCE ALBERT.—Saskatchewan's timber production for the year ended March 31 of this year was valued at $8,785,667. E. J. Marshall, provincial director of forests, announced.

He said this compared with $9,352,553 the previous year, showing a decline of eight per cent. Increased production of lumber and railway ties was more than offset by sharp drops in the output of pulpwood and power and telephone poles.

While the average overall value per cubic foot of all forest production in 1952-53 showed an increase of two and one half cents over last year, total output declined 15.66 per cent.

Mr. Marshall said poor pulpwood market conditions were mainly responsible for the decline in volume and sales of timber production. Pulpwood and boxwood output dropped 56 per cent. Power and telephone poles came next, registering a drop of 40 per cent. from last year.

Lumber continued as the biggest single item of timber production. Total output jumped 11.3 per cent. over last year, while the unit value increased from $72.40 to $72.82. However, the biggest volume increase occurred in railway tie production, up 44 per cent. over the previous season.

Production and values of all forest materials for 1952-53 were as follows: lumber—$8,946,809 board feet, $6,477,106; pulpwood and boxwood—50,883 cords, $1,031,868; power and telephone poles—67,770, $406,620; railway ties—170,000, $312,800; fuelwood—37,456 cords, $280,920; fence posts—662,175, $99,381; rails and droppers—338,920, $57,618; plywood—2,228 cords, $55,950; piling and building logs—108,350 lineal feet, $27,087; lath—1,435,000 pieces, $20,649; shinnwood and shingle bolts—532 cords, $12,480; and small trees—12,708, $3,177.

Inquiries pouring into the resources department's northern administration office here would indicate that Uranium City, Saskatchewan, has caught the imagination of people around the world.

Stories in recent American and Canadian publications, describing the rise of Uranium City in northern Saskatchewan's famous Beaverledge uranium field, started the ball rolling. In the past two months, well over 500 letters have been received, and more are arriving with every mail delivery.

One recent letter asking about employment opportunities came from a Dutch sea captain in Dharan, Saudi-Arabia. Another, from a storekeeper in Brussels, Belgium. The writer of this letter wanted "any job, except office work."

Letters have come in from practically every state of the United States, as well as Alaska. Most parts of Canada have been heard from, and several inquiries have originated within the province.

NEWFOUNDLAND FARMS

With its population of over 350,000, Newfoundland has between 1,500 and 2,000 families engaged in full-time farming and six times that number in part-time farming. The average farm has 12 to 20 cultivated acres, two-thirds of which are used to grow hay and the remainder vegetables, states C-J-L Agricultural News.

Marketing Grain Through Hogs

Since the University of Alberta swine herd was established in 1917 over 15,000 pigs have been farrowed on which more than 150 swine feeding experiments have been conducted. The following conclusions, based on this experience, were reported by J. P. Bowland and L. W. McElroy at the 32nd Annual Feeders Day held at the university on June 6, 1953:

"During the 35-year period from 1918 to 1952 pigs paid all overhead costs including interest on breeding stock, buildings and equipment, took care of depreciation, paid a labour return and marketing charges and still provided an increase of 63 per cent. in the value of barley marketed as pork rather than grain.

"During this period there was a margin of approximately $6.50 per hog between the cost of production and the selling price. In only two years, 1924 and 1932, did the average cost of production exceed the selling price. It is worth remembering that the selling price of basic grade hogs on a 100 lb. live weight basis has varied during this 35-year period from $3.45 in 1932 to $25.36 in 1951."
